Hi.

This testimonial to Greg Vaughan financial services is based fully on my own experience of using them. I had previously tried to claim p.p.i compensation via one of the "bigger" companies with no success. When I tried to claim through the "bigger" company, the whole experience was one of no help, no communication and absolutely no confidence of the possibility of success. For a start my claim was based on 5 bank loans over several years that I had very little paper work to refer to. As such, they said they couldn't help. I forgot about it for a year or so and discovered Greg Vaughan during a random web search so sent him an email explaining everything. From the very start the whole business of my claim couldn't have been easier. The very small amount of information I could provide was plenty for Greg to go ahead with my claim. All communications I sent via email were promptly replied to in an easy to understand way, absolutely no financial jargon at all. The few forms I had to fill in were also very easy to interpret and complete and Greg has clearly taken into account the fact that the majority of people he will be dealing with really don't want to have more financial jargon to decipher. Its clear that Greg is very professional in every aspect of the inner workings of banks and how they conduct they're business. I approached the issue of my claim with no expectation of success but went ahead as Greg provides a very fair no win no fee service and if successful a 20% fee thought there really is nothing to lose. The swift and easy to understand communication was enough to convince me that if Greg could do nothing then nobody could. As it turned out Greg managed to win back almost £2000 at a time when I needed it most as I had just been made redundant from my job of 21 years. From start to finish my claim took a little over 3 months. Considering the little info I could provide, the fact I expected nothing and the amount Greg managed to claim back, I'm astonished and obviously very grateful. To anyone who happens to read this testimonial, I cant praise Greg enough for how he helped me and I can assure you, you wont be disappointed if you choose to use Greg to pursue a claim.

Many thanks to you Greg.

Hi

I don't really know where to start, I first contacted Greg at the end of 2008, I had been advised 15 months earlier by an IFA to invest in an offshore SIPP, before going down the annuity route. The IFA was employed by a company who I had known for almost 20 years, I had no reason to believe that they would not act in my best interests.

This testimonial to Greg Vaughan Financial Services is a reflection of my own experience of using his company. I had tried to understand the nature of my "investment" for almost 12 months, when the true facts began to emerge it was clear that I needed help, thank heavens for the internet. There were plenty of people offering assistance; many of them appeared to be vultures preying on ill informed victims. I don't know why I selected Greg; but it was a very good decision on my part.

I had all pertinent documents and many more too, it would be too complicated and uninteresting for me to explain the full circumstances. Let me just say that both the IFA and the investment company were guilty of gross errors during the set up phase of the investment plans. There was use of misleading statements such as guarantee and 100% protection and there was ample proof that the IFA did not understand the product that he had recommended. I was convinced that this would form the basis of my claim.

Once I had completed my "information dump" to Greg, I felt confident that I had provided sufficient information for Greg to process my claim. Greg has a gift in his use and understanding of words, he quickly helped me look in the right direction and I went through a process of re-calibration. I took his advice, all of it and he guided me at every step of the process. It was a long and very difficult process; we were pushed back at every step of the way until my claim was put in front of the Ombudsman.

You need to be very patient, as the favourable ruling was not confirmed until late 2011; when I thought that all was lost (at numerous points in the 3 year process) he was always there, offering advice based on experience, rather than the culture that exists in other parts of our financial system. Communication was always easy with him, you don't need to be a computer expert, but it certainly helped when I was called upon to refute claims from the company who the IFA worked for, or support my case with details from events up to 4 years ago.

To all who read this testimonial, I cannot praise Greg enough. You can rely on him, he doesn't unduly encourage you and his advice is spot on. He will always be straight with you, which is very comforting and it results in no unpleasant surprises.

Dear Greg,

I have enclosed a cheque in payment of your invoice. I would like to thank you for your assistance and wouldn't hesitate to recommend your services as the personal touch makes such a difference. I chose you as you work independently :- my son and his girlfriend are going into 4th year at uni studying accounting and hope some day after professional exams to be working independently too, (and hopefully people will use them)!

There is always a way for money to go and although I will enjoy my holiday my youngest son is moving away to go to uni in September to study Management so this money will help him.

Regards
Carol Ritchie

I would like to extend my sincere thanks to Greg of Greg Vaughan Financial Services for the fantastic and diligent work he has done for my mum.

My mum was a teacher for many years in Garston and Speke and worked tirelessly to ensure that those children got the best start possible to their education. She was head of a school that was named as one of the top 20 most improved schools in the country, and she was awarded the OBE for her services to education.

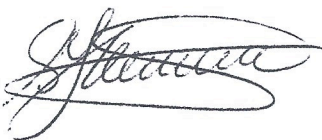

My mum is also someone who doesn't like a fuss, who doesn't want to be any bother and would be a bit embarrassed at the thought of claiming money back. It took some prodding by me to get her to contact Greg about the scheme she had been sold while she was teaching, but eventually my nagging worked, and she cracked.

Greg was never pushy; never made promises about the amount of money she may have been entitled to and was very honest about the length of time these things could take to investigate. I know my mum liked his honest and open way of communicating.

Greg has worked tirelessly on mum's case, and it turns out she was completely mis sold the wrong product and wasted her money for a number of years, the scheme would never do what had been promised. Greg explained what was happening at every stage and kept mum in the loop and a few weeks ago she was awarded just under £20, 000 as recompense. She's just booked a holiday to Italy for October with my dad!

I would not hesitate to recommend Greg to anyone who thinks they may have been mis sold a financial product; the service has been absolutely first class.

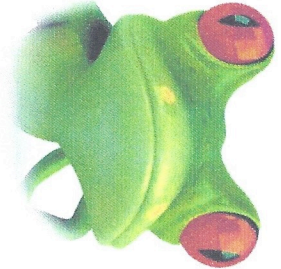

Yours faithfully,

Sue Flannery Director

In the 1990's, my sister Clare was persuaded to invest in a Free Standing Additional Voluntary Contribution Policy (FSAVC), as a way of topping up her Teacher's Pension in later years.

When she retired in 2011, she was disappointed with the small amount generated by this investment, but she was unaware that anything could be done about its poor performance.

Two years ago, I introduced her to Greg Vaughan Financial Services, who had been investigating the mis-selling of FSAVC's for years. This introduction was a turning point for her.

Greg worked tirelessly for Clare. Nothing was too much trouble. She was impressed and felt completely at ease with all stages of the process.

He listened carefully, asking questions to clarify her particular situation, then he explained what would happen next. Simple forms arrived for all the necessary personal details, and the claim moved forward. Greg's service did absolutely everything for her. All her questions were dealt with quickly and in jargon free language.

Even after her claim was proved to be correct, Greg wasn't happy with the manner in which her claim was being calculated, no doubt because of his wealth of experience, so he approached the Ombudsman on her behalf to get the best results.

Clare is absolutely thrilled with the compensation she received, which was far more than she had imagined. She recommends Greg Vaughan's "stress-free" Financial Services, without reservation, to anyone in need of his very professional advice, confident that, if you have been a victim of FSAVC mis-selling, you have nothing to lose – and maybe a lot to gain! My grateful thanks go to Greg Vaughan.
